OUR HISTORY TOGETHER

high-school: where it all began

by A&A

The creation of AEA officially began in 11th grade while we were studying for our A'levels.

And some of my favorite memories from school is meeting under our staircase during break time. It might have been only 15 mins everyday, but it was legit the only reason I went to school. Otherwise I was gonna die. Cuz eww classes. Bleh.

So yeah I loved meeting you at our staircase, and then laughing with you and joking with you. Playing with you, watching you abuse Asaley. Fun times fun times.

I loved taking walks with you after school at the sultan park. But the best walks might have been the walks to MB at in the burning heat of 2pm. I think our CHSE selves were entirely unhinged.

I cant imagine us doing that now. (specifically because im very very lazy). But it was fun. And you guys were entirely crazy to walk me home all the way to maafannu even if we hung out at henveyru. At least you two lived close enough to walk back to henveyru together.

So cute of you guys to not let any of us go home alone. So sweet really.

Highschool was also where we started our lovely birthday tradition of giving gifts to each other.

And I remember our very first one. We all met up at the coffee club ate toasts and sandwiches and gave each other very cute gifts. But little did we know the scale of these gift days were gonna go out of control. Getting better and better. Year by year.

OUR HANG- OUTS

Our hangouts interestingly enough is very predictable because we are very predictable people. its always MB or MFM. the real brand loyalty ig. and i wouldn't change it for anything, because we made so many memories there. its where we grew up. from tiny little 11th graders to who we have become now. so many big decisions were made there. from which collage to study our degree and masters to our vacations, and celebrating milestones in our life.

our life during the covid pandemic

by A&A

So covid was a really funny time in life. Here we were fresh out of high school ready to embark into the adventure of adulthood. Three 18 yr old babies who were so excited to be adults. I remember before the lockdown we would physically go apply our printed resumes and application forms to all these random offices all across Male' which probably would have been a very boring thing had we been doing it alone.

But I really looked forward to it because it was just another excuse to hang out with you guys. And if we got jobs along the way even better. I almost forgot to add that we also used to go jogging on the bridge at night. And now I think back and wonder wow how did we even manage all that. just wow. Although I do remember dying because I ran out of breath not even halfway through

But then lock down happened and meeting physically became impossible. But we still kept in touch. We'd talk all night on google meet, catch up. play games whether on Plato or among us. But I think it was mostly among us cuz the entire world was obsessed with it. I really miss that game. It was really fun when any two of us would become mafia's and we'd gang up to kill the other people.

EVEN MORE OF OUR HISTORY

life in beach

Vacations. The thought of white sandy beaches and the bright blue ocean already make me feel healed. Once villa stopped eating our money, we unlocked the new hobby of embarking on adventures outside of male. Our cautious selves started small. With the lovely island of thulusdhoo. it was amazing. We had a pool in the hotel. There were so many cute spots to walk at. It had a treehouse we played games in and also the sunset beach. Thulusdhoo spoiled us so bad we couldn't imagine our trips getting any better. But it did. Because our next stop was Eriyadhu.

Our first resort trip. Now this trip spoiled us so bad we ended up never not choosing a resort for our vacations. Cuz resort trips really do hit differently. The best thing about eriyadhu would be their food. Breakfast lunch and dinner. Always so very scrumptious. My mouth waters just thinking about it. Our next trip was kuda bandos. one word to describe it would be luxury. The best part about this trip would be the private pool. We really dreamed and planned so much to go somewhere with a private pool, but we never imagined we would be able to go somewhere like that so quickly. Our most recent trip would be another trip to eriyadhu. This is where our gift giving scale really went out the window. Cuz this trip was made possible because we wanted to surprise eams with our joint gift and just going on a trip. So next thing we knew we were at eriyadhu. Honestly surprising eams was one of the best parts about this trip. And it was so funny that it was raining like almost the whole time while we were there.

The Dark Ages: aka college era

Villa the bane of our existence. in the three years that we spent there we learned a lot. less from our modules and more about how annoying life can be. Definitely the only good thing we got from there was the certificate and getting to hang with you all everyday. Especially, because during these dark ages we all had a very very messed up schedule. the first two years were certainly easier, owing to the fact that covid enabled us to attend online classes. which saved us a lot of time with our already busy schedules because of work. But in our third year which had the hardest classes we were working from 8 to 6 and then going to college right after. It was brutal. Especially when we had four hour classes that meant that we didn't finish until 10pm. So yeah brutal. Staying out even longer by hanging out at MFM till 12 might have been one of the only ways we managed to cope. We got to destress by eating some good food and just venting about our day. I know we suffered a lot, but at least we suffered together, and it didn't feel quite that horrible thinking about it that way. Also college wasn't all that bad. Coming to class late every day, and going back to class after 20 mins when the teacher gave only 10 min break. Peak college memories. It was really fun.

SO MANY REASONS WHY

we love our E.A.M.S

ENDEARING

We love you because your endearing spirit has a way of bringing warmth and joy to everyone around you.

You're charming and hilarious. You always make us laugh. You're an absolute joy to be with. You really lift our spirits just by existing.

No matter how long or short our hangouts end up being, it's never long enough, because we always want to stay longer with you. Because you just that amazing.

ABUSIVE

Asaley specifically asked me to include this. you are my favorite abusive boyfriend. not only do i get abused verbally, i've started to get abused physically as well. it started with little hits on my arms and pinches, but ive noticed that it has expanded to biting as well... anyways, i still enjoy the process of being abused. i know it's cause you love me ❤️😏 and i hope you never stop doing those things to me. cause im gonna start doing those back to you cause i love you too 🤔

MESMERISING

We love you because you're mesmerizing inside and out. Mashallah. You shine like the stars. You brighten every room you enter with your beauty. You inky black eyes, your adorable nose, cute lips, and your gorgeous face captivates everyone around you. But it's not just how you look. It's your soul too. The way you tell a story, drawing us in with every word, or the sparkle in your eyes when you share your passions. You're just so beautiful. And we are so lucky to have you as our best friend.

STRONG

we love you because you're so strong. There are so many times when you became our voice. From tiny simple stuff like giving orders in a restaurant or even bigger things like getting angry on our behalf and speaking up for us whenever we're too scared to. I always thought that you're really cool when you turn into the "you hurt my friends, I hurt you mode" you are also very supportive. You encourage us in every way to be better people.

CURRENTLY

what we can do

in order to make our connection stronger, it is important for us to hangout somehow and always keep contact.

unfortunately since it is impossible to meet physically right now, we should work on keeping contact through every online means possible.

Hence, it would be lovely for us to keep video calling more and more, and always text each other about our day. tell us if someone annoyed you at work or if something fun happened and never let our tele get dry yk.

there so many other things we can do too yk. like play gamess. ik i miss our among us era and playing games on plato too. it was really fun. maybe well find out about more things too

plans for the future

During our time here in Malay, we would like to politely ask you and invite you to our house. Before our time here ends, please come to Malay and let's enjoy it together or else we will be very very sad (asaley said she will stay for another five years until you come to pick her up). You will have free accommodation hence you wont need to worry about that. Just take a plane ticket and fly here, you can use your money for your leisure purposes. We can explore the different cities here as well as enjoy the different variety of cuisines. because there is so much good food that is so cheap. Furthermore, we can do retail therapy together by roaming around the city and the different malls. This is definitely one thing you'll need your money for. cuz the cute things here will make you willingly go broke. so make sure to pack an extra suitcase.

TRIPS AND THINGS

places to visit*

I believe that we need more trips together. Since we have traveled only locally, we shall plan an international trip together. There are so many countries we can go to. the easiest one would be Malay. but we could also go on an umrah trip together which would be soo fun. we could go to Thailand, Vietnam, Singapore, an explore Europe trip, Japan Korea. Literally the entire world. (ik we broke but a girl can dream) hence, lets plan a proper more realistic trip and make it work in the future. Feel free to start planning right now :) Also, we shall still travel to different islands and resorts too. there is 26 atolls we have got to make sure we step foot on every singe one. hehehe

IN CONCLUSION

we hope you enjoyed reading this and
